THE RIGHT TO STUDY

The Right to Study Office promotes scholarships and other forms of economic benefits for deserving and economically disadvantaged students. The contributions announced are:

- income and merit scholarships provided by the university, which cover 50% of the university tuition fee;
- adoption scholarships, provided in collaboration with partner organisations and companies, which cover 100% of the university tuition fee;
- excellence scholarships, which cover 100% of the university tuition fee;
- scholarships provided by the Ente per il Diritto alle Studi Universitari della Regione Lazio (DiSCoLazio), which guarantee exemption from university fees.

Thanks to the agreement between the University and Intesa Sanpaolo, students can access the Per Merito university loan, a flexible and convenient financing instrument granted to interested parties without the need for ancillary guarantees to support their study expenses.

UNIVERSITY LANGUAGE CENTRE

The university language centre offers linguistic support to students for the entire duration of the curriculum, through curricular and extra-curricular courses of linguistic enhancement, linguistic tutoring activities and recreational activities in English, in order to allow each student to benefit from an international experience, even at home. Therefore, all students have their own language training and growth path, regardless of their initial level. Those with a high level of English language skills also have the opportunity to carry out language tutoring activities that can be professionally certified by the Trinity School.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

UCBM has developed a network of international, scientific and educational relations to promote the mobility of students, teachers and health and technical-administrative staff in European companies and universities (Erasmus+ for Study and Erasmus+ for Traineeships). It also offers the necessary administrative support for periods of international mobility not included in the Erasmus+ project and aimed at internship or dissertation preparation activities.

CAREER SERVICE

The Career Service promotes the contact of students and recent graduates with the professional world, through traineeships, internships and personalised advice at the beginning of the professional path, favouring the meeting between demand and offer of job opportunities. It assists students in the selection phase and companies in the search for CVs. The University also has a UCBM-Companies Committee that offers a stable space for comparison and consultation between the academic and professional worlds, in order to promote the constant updating of study programmes, support research and promote the inclusion of recent graduates in the world of work.

ACCOMMODATION AND CATERING

The Right to Study Office supports students looking for accommodation by helping them identify the best solution according to their needs. Among the housing solutions available, there are:

- apartments near the university;
- university colleges of the RUI Foundation - www.fondazioneRUI.it;
- Foresteria del Borgo Primo Centro.

The university campus has 3 canteen dining rooms that are accessible to students, staff and visitors. Students and staff of the Campus Bio-Medico University of Rome benefit from catering services at reduced prices, provided they show their badge at the checkout.

UCBM offers its students a tutoring service on entry, during studies and on completion of studies. Depending on the relevant departmental faculty, tutors can be researchers, doctoral students, recent students, but also doctors, nurses, technicians and specialised students.

PERSONAL TUTOR

The personal tutor guides the student in order to identify the resources and potential they have to develop their learning skills, manage any difficulties and take active responsibility for them. The tutor supports the student on a continuous basis and helps them to manage different phases of the university path, framing them in a broader motivational and value-based context. The tutor provides the student with professional guidance for effective entry into the world of work, in relation to their personal skills and attitudes. In particular, the tutor promotes the development of soft skills (self-awareness, critical thinking, effective communication, decision-making skills and problem solving skills), which allow students to operate competently, both individually and socially and professionally.

SUBJECT TUTOR

The subject tutor works closely with the teacher to help them organise and manage the course, taking into account the students' needs. They thus act as a privileged interlocutor for the latter in the constant effort to promote dialogue and learning processes.

CLINICAL TUTOR

For the Departmental Faculty of Medicine and Surgery, to support student learning in internship activities, there is the figure of the clinical tutor. The clinical tutor is a contact person for the acquisition of essential clinical skills to access the assessment of credits specifically provided for by the educational system. They also help the student to circulate in the professional environment and make the appropriate choices for the future, through some specific objectives. Tutorial meetings are conducted with respect for the student's freedom and sense of responsibility. Counselling professionals are also available to students to solve difficulties that affect emotions and personality development.

INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION AND VOLUNTEER ACTIVITIES

comitato.cusv@unicampus.it

Università Campus Bio-Medico di Roma offers students the opportunity to participate in health care and food education activities, inter-university research programmes and projects for the creation of infrastructures of social interest in developing countries. Every year, work camps are organised in African and Latin American countries.

Voluntary activities involve students, teachers and employees of the University in favour of vulnerable people such as the sick, the elderly, the marginalised, the immigrants, the prisoners, the victims of natural disasters and the poor. The initiatives take place outside class hours for students and outside working hours for employees. They are promoted directly by UCBM together with local businesses, institutions and third parties who share the same goals and objectives.

The main voluntary activities are aimed at supporting the patients of the University Hospital, the children hosted by CasAmica and the people in need of assistance in the district of Trigoria. The activities are supported by the CUSV Committee formed by professors, employees and students, recognising the strategic value of university development cooperation and volunteering as key aspects of the mission and values of UCBM.

CHAPLAINCY

The Chaplaincy is a place where one can meet others, explore and share the experience of university and life in terms of one's faith. It promotes activities of fellowship, prayer, cultural understanding and, in a special way, the integration of faith, intellect and culture.
