From Lab to Leadership: Navigating Precision Medicine as a Biomedical Engineering

19 November 2024 | 15:30

Sala Conferenze PRABB | Università Campus Bio-Medico di Roma

Speaker:

Maria-Laura Blefari, Associate Director Precision Medicine Neuroscience, AbbVie

Abstract:

Graduating from Campus Biomedico, Maria-Laura brings invaluable insights as a Biomedical Engineer whose career journey spans hands-on lab research to roles in precision medicine across Italy, Switzerland, and the US. Driven by a relentless curiosity and a commitment to solve health challenges, she has led projects in academia and industry, turning possibilities into real solutions for patients and clinicians. Her talk dives into the skills, choices, and discoveries that can transform an engineering career into one meaningful and fulfilling. Don't miss this chance to learn how she did it and meet her in person!
